CEO
Transcend Robotics,

4th August 2017

To whom it may concern,

I am Phillip Walker, CEO at Transcend Robotics. It is with great pleasure that I submit to you my recommendation of Krutarth Shah who was associated with our company as Product Development Intern during summer 2017 to develop tremendous new products. I've worked closely with him over his employee period and he directly reported to me.

Throughout the entire time Krutarth worked for Transcend, he has exhibited himself true professional in every sense of the world. I thoroughly enjoyed my time working with Krutarth, and came to know him as a truly valuable asset to the company. He is honest, dependable, smart and incredibly hard-working. His work ethics and dedication are simply commendable. He built a strong camaraderie with me and my team that was essential to overcome challenging problem on a daily basis. He has good leadership, analytical, and project management skills.

Krutarth is a solution driven and never takes a "can't be attitude" as a final result. He will explore and exhaust all avenues to achieve the goal. Krutarth always put in the extra time to meet project deadlines without complaint or issue. He was always ready to work. Moreover, he actively participated in brainstorming sessions that ultimately led to creative campaigns. He is the power house of innovative ideas and creative thinking which comes handy in the new product development area. Also, a good listener. He is incredibly self-motivated and independent worker.

He has all the traits of product development and product design, especially well round knowledge of business and technology. Due to his engagement, Krutarth was able to achieve goals in his role to work with our project in many aspects of product development. I personally have worked with him on every stage of product development life cycle- Ideation, Product design, Engineering, Customer value proposition, Manufacturing, Supply chain and Business model strategy. His wide knowledge and passion for technology makes him a perfect product development person to handle all the domains. He is high energy, team player who will go distance to make sure that every project is completed on time, within budget and meeting customer expectations.

We would personally and professionally recommend Krutarth for any position he may be eligible for and are very confident any company that employs him is an acquiring a very valuable player. If I can be of any further assistance, or provide you with any additional information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
